

Matthias Spuehler, CEO
matthias.spuehler@eleveneye.com

Senior Consulting and Project Management as critical success factor

IT and new technologies like blockchain, IoT or AI enable you to do business efficiently and successfully. You can access new market potentials, increase customer benefits and efficiently integrate business partners into your company's own value chain. In order to fully exploit these advantages, projects play an increasingly important role.

Projects of higher complexity often involve risks that are not immediately apparent and are therefore ideally managed by project managers with experience from similar projects. Due to the uniqueness of complex projects, this experience is often lacking in the company itself.

Project management is a core competence for eleveneye. We provide project managers, who will successfully implement your project due to their many years of experience in the implementation of complex projects with reliable methodology.

Eleveneye regards it as one of the central project management tasks to create clarity and peace of mind within the project team and vis-à-vis stakeholders. This is exactly what is essential for a truly successful project team: being able to work at high speed – focused on results not on open issues.

We manage projects transparently, methodically and goal-oriented. We attach great importance to level-appropriate communication, efficient project controlling and the operational integration of project results. With the contexture® method, we also ensure sustainable project success.

We offer the following services:

- Consulting mandates
- Project leadership
- Quality assurance in projects
- Project Manager Coaching
- Troubleshooting
- Interim Management

I am looking forward to exchanging with you: matthias.spuehler@eleveneye.com